JURISDICTION AND VENUE

This Court has jurisdiction over the Defendants because, at all times relevant to this cause of action, the Defendants did business in El Paso County, Texas and/or resided in El Paso County, Texas. The Court has jurisdiction over the controversy because the damages are within the jurisdictional limits of the court.

Venue is proper in El Paso County, Texas, because Defendant Ortho El Paso P.A. is a corporation whose principal office in this state, was in El Paso County at the time the cause of action accrue, and all or a substantial part of the events giving rise to the cause of action occurred here.

IV.

FACTUAL BACKGROUND

The named Defendants are manufacturers, designers, producers, marketers, sellers, handlers, and/or distributors of the drug Synvisc-One® (Hylan g-f20). Following a surge in complaints related to a contaminated batch of Synvisc-One® syringes, the Defendants initiated a voluntary recall of the 12,380 syringes in single lot number 7RSL021 ("Contaminated Lot"). The Defendants' recall notice cited a lack of environmental control which resulted in microbial contamination to the syringes in the recalled lot. The Contaminated Lot was produced at the Defendants' plant in Ridgefield, New Jersey and distributed between October 25, 2017 and November 7, 2017.

On November 9, 2017, Mr. Cazares was suffering from osteoarthritis in his knee. Plaintiff's doctor, working from Defendant Ortho El Paso's facility where the drug was ultimately distributed and sold for final use, administered a dose of contaminated Synvisc-One® to Mr. Cazares for his knee pain. The contaminated syringe was placed into the stream of commerce by all named Defendants, who at all times relevant to this lawsuit, maintained exclusive control of the manufacture, distribution, sale, and administration of the bacteria-infused Synvisc-One®. Due to the bacterial cocktail he was injected with, Mr. Cazares suffered an immediate adverse reaction and subsequent infection that eventually necessitated several surgeries, months of therapy, and numerous hospitalizations. As a result of the injuries caused by the Defendants, both Plaintiffs sustained severe injuries described below.

V.
STRICT LIABILITY

Plaintiff adopts and realleges by reference each and every factual allegation contained in this Petition as if fully copied and set forth at length. The Defendants produced, manufactured, distributed, marketed, stored, handled, processed, and sold the Contaminated Lot of Synvisc-One. At all times before the tainted syringe was used on Plaintiff, it was in the exclusive control of the Defendants, their agents, servants, employees, and/or apparent agents, and was delivered to Plaintiff without substantial change to its defective condition. The tainted syringe was defective and unreasonably dangerous to the ultimate user at the time it was produced through the time it was administered to Plaintiff. Unlike the sterile product it was supposed to be, the tainted syringe was defective and unreasonably dangerous because, among other things, it was contaminated by various pathogenic bacteria. The defective and unreasonably dangerous condition of the Contaminated Lot is a direct, proximate, and producing cause of Plaintiffs' injuries and losses.

VI.
MANUFACTURING DEFECT

Plaintiff adopts and realleges by reference each and every factual allegation contained in this Petition as if fully copied and set forth at length. There was a manufacturing defect in the Contaminated Lot at the time it left the possession of the Defendants. The product deviated in its construction or quality from its specifications in a manner that rendered it unreasonably dangerous. The manufacturing defect rendered the medical device dangerous to an extent beyond that which would be contemplated by the ordinary user of the product, and with the ordinary knowledge common to the community as to the product's characteristics. The above manufacturing defect was a producing cause of the injuries made the basis of this suit. As more particularly set forth below, Plaintiff invokes the doctrine of res ipsa loquitur as to whether the product contained a manufacturing defect.

VII.
NEGLIGENCE

Plaintiff adopts and realleges by reference each and every factual allegation contained in this Petition as if fully copied and set forth at length. The Defendants were negligent in the design, manufacture, and marketing of Synvisc-One® Lot Number 7RSL021. The Defendants, through various agents and entities, failed to ensure that the appropriate environmental controls were adhered to and/or deviated from the appropriate manufacturing processes resulting in the microbial infestation contained in the Contaminated Lot. was a producing cause of the injuries to Plaintiffs. As a direct and proximate result of the Defendants' negligence, Plaintiffs sustained the injuries and losses described below. As more particularly set forth below, Plaintiff invokes the doctrine of res ipsa loquitur.

VIII.
BREACH OF EXPRESS WARRANTY
(TEX. UCC §2.313)

Plaintiff adopts and realleges by reference each and every factual allegation contained in this Petition as if fully copied and set forth at length. Among other affirmative representations, each Defendant expressly warranted that the contents of the syringe were “sterile and nonpyrogenic.” Rather than the “sterile and nonpyrogenic” syringe, the Defendants furnished and administered a contaminated syringe loaded with a bacterial cocktail which caused the plaintiff to suffer severe adverse reactions to the product requiring surgical intervention. As a direct and proximate result of the Defendants' breach, Plaintiffs sustained the injuries and losses described below.

IX.
BREACH OF THE IMPLIED WARRANTIES OF MERCHANTABILITY
(TEX. UCC §2.314(b)) AND FITNESS FOR A PARTICULAR PURPOSE
(TEX. UCC §2.315)

Plaintiff adopts and realleges by reference each and every factual allegation contained in this Petition as if fully copied and set forth at length. The Defendants designed, constructed, manufactured, labeled, handled, stored and/or distributed the Contaminated Lot of Synvisc-One that was eventually injected into Plaintiff resulting in significant harm. The Defendants impliedly warranted that Synvisc-One was fit for its intended use as a medical device as a single-injection device for the long-term treatment of arthritis pain, which the plaintiff had (TEX. UCC §2.315). Each Defendant also impliedly warranted that the Contaminated Lot was merchantable pursuant to TEX. UCC §2.314(b).

Defendants sold goods to Plaintiff that were unfit for their particular purpose. The injection, from the Contaminated Lot, was not fit for its intended purpose and Defendants breached their implied warranties by selling the Synvisc-One injection while it was contaminated with microbial pathogens and other adulterants. Thus, it was not fit for its intended purpose or use and/or was not merchantable. Plaintiff relied on Defendants' knowledge and skill in these areas to ensure that the product was merchantable and/or would perform as warranted by the Defendants. As a direct and proximate result of the Defendants' breach, Plaintiffs sustained the injuries and losses described below.

X.
RES IPSA LOQUITUR

As a basis for application of res ipsa loquitur to Plaintiff's claims against the Defendants, Plaintiff adopts and realleges by reference each and every factual allegation contained in this Petition as if fully copied and set forth at length. The character of the incident made the basis of this lawsuit would not ordinarily occur in the absence of negligence; and

At all relevant times, the tainted syringe was under the exclusive management and control of the Defendants. Defendants were in control of the product at the time that the negligence (inferable from the incident made the basis of this lawsuit) occurred, so that the reasonable probabilities point to the Defendants and support a reasonable inference that Defendants were the negligent party. Further, Defendants have superior knowledge or means of information to determine the cause of the incident made the basis of this lawsuit. By reason of the above and foregoing circumstances, among others, the jury is permitted to infer the Defendants' negligence.

XI.
CIRCUMSTANTIAL EVIDENCE OF A DEFECT

The malfunction that occurred ordinarily would not occur in the absence of a defect in the product. Shaun T. Mian Corp. v. Hewlett-Packard Co., 237 S.W.3d 851, 862-863 (Tex.App.—Dallas 2007, pet. Denied). The circumstances provide a reasonable basis for concluding the defective condition did not arise subsequent to Defendant's exercise of control over the product. Shaun T. Mian Corp., 237 S.W.3d at 863. The likelihood of something other than a defect in the product is so reduced that the most probable cause of the malfunction was a defect in the product. Shaun T. Mian Corp., 237 S.W.3d at 863. Thus, the product was defective.

XII. DAMAGES

As a proximate and/or producing result of Defendants' conduct, Plaintiff Javier Cazares has suffered, sustained and incurred, and in reasonable medical probability will continue to suffer, sustain and incur, the following injuries and damages, among others:

- a. physical pain sustained in the past and, in reasonable probability, that will be sustained in the future;
- b. mental anguish sustained in the past and, in reasonable probability, that will be sustained in the future;
- c. disfigurement sustained in the past and, in reasonable probability, that will be sustained in the future;
- d. physical impairment sustained in the past and, in reasonable probability, that will be sustained in the future;
- e. medical expenses sustained in the past and, in reasonable probability, that will be sustained in the future;
- f. lost earnings in the past; and
- g. exemplary damages.

As a proximate and/or producing result of Defendants' conduct, Plaintiff Angelina Cazares suffered, sustained and incurred, and in reasonable medical probability will continue to suffer, sustain and incur, the following injuries and damages, among others:

- a. Loss of household services, past and future;

b. Loss of consortium, past and future; and

c. Exemplary damages.

Accordingly, Plaintiffs sue for damages within the jurisdictional limits of the Court; Plaintiffs request that the amount of their damages be determined by a jury of their peers. Plaintiffs ask the jury to award a fair and reasonable amount based on the evidence presented at trial. Plaintiffs leave the amount of that verdict to the sound discretion of the jury. The Texas Rules of Civil Procedure require Plaintiffs to plead that his/her case falls under a particular category as outlined by the Texas Rules of Civil Procedure. In order to comply with this procedural requirement and to accommodate any potential verdict that could be awarded by a jury, Plaintiffs hereby plead and places his case into the category of suits seeking relief over $1,000,000.00, including damages, penalties, costs, expenses, and pre-judgment interest. Plaintiffs hereby further demand judgment for all relief to which he is entitled.

Plaintiffs also seek punitive damages from Defendants under TEX. CIV. PRAC. & REM. CODE ANN. § 41.003 for their gross negligence/malice that resulted in the Plaintiffs' injuries and damages as set forth above. Plaintiff prefers to leave the precise amount of punitive damages to the sole discretion of the jury, based upon the credible evidence presented at trial, without regard to sympathy, prejudice or bias. The jury should be guided by previous exemplary sums, if any, paid by or on behalf of the Defendants for the same or similar unsafe practices alleged in this case. In assessing punitive damages against defendants, the jury should take into account the following considerations: 1) the nature of the defendant's wrong; 2) the character of the conduct involved; 3) the degree of culpability of the wrongdoer; 4) the situation and sensibilities of the parties concerned; 5) the extent to which such conduct offends a public sense of justice and propriety; and 6) Plaintiffs reasonable attorney's fees. Alamo National Bank v. Kraus, 616 S.W.2d 908, 910 (Tex. 1981). The jury should also take into account the net worth of the Defendants.

XIII.
REQUEST FOR DISCLOSURES

Pursuant to Rule 194 of the Texas Rules of Civil Procedure, Defendants are requested to disclose the information and material described in Rule 194.2 within fifty (50) days of the service of this Plaintiff's Requests for Disclosure to Defendants.

XIV.
RULE 193.7 NOTICE

Pursuant to Rule 193.7 of the Texas Rules of Civil Procedure, Plaintiff hereby gives notice that all documents produced by any party to this case will be used at any pretrial proceeding or at the trial of this matter.

XV.
JURY DEMAND

Pursuant to Texas Rule of Civil Procedure 216, Plaintiff requests a trial by jury and would show that the appropriate fee is paid contemporaneously with the filing of this Petition.

XVI.
DESIGNATED EMAIL FOR SERVICE PROCESS

13.01 Plaintiff hereby notifies all parties that the designated email for service for all matters included, but not limited to discovery, motions, notices and pleadings, is as follows:

getlit@lovettlawfirm.com

XVII.
PRAYER

Plaintiffs pray that they have judgment against Defendants, jointly and severally, for actual damages shown and proved at trial, for prejudgment and post-judgment interest, for costs of court, and for all other relief, legal and equitable, to which Plaintiffs are justly entitled.

Respectfully submitted,

III.

JURISDICTION AND VENUE

This Court has jurisdiction over the Defendants because, at all times relevant to this cause of action, the Defendants did business in El Paso County, Texas and/or resided in El Paso County, Texas. The Court has jurisdiction over the controversy because the damages are within the jurisdictional limits of the court.

Venue is proper in El Paso County, Texas, because Defendant Ortho El Paso P.A. is a corporation whose principal office in this state, was in El Paso County at the time the cause of action accrued, and all or a substantial part of the events giving rise to the cause of action occurred here.

IV.

FACTUAL BACKGROUND

The named Defendants are manufacturers, designers, producers, marketers, sellers, handlers, and/or distributors of the drug Synvisc-One® (Hylan g-f20). Following a surge in complaints related to a contaminated batch of Synvisc-One® syringes, the Defendants initiated a voluntary recall of the 12,380 syringes in single lot number 7RSL021 ("Contaminated Lot"). The Defendants' recall notice cited a lack of environmental control which resulted in microbial contamination to the syringes in the recalled lot. The Contaminated Lot was produced at the Defendants' plant in Ridgefield, New Jersey and distributed between October 25, 2017 and November 7, 2017.

On November 9, 2017, Mr. Cazares was suffering from osteoarthritis in his knee. Plaintiff's doctor, working from Defendant Ortho El Paso's facility, administered a dose of contaminated Synvisc-One® to Mr. Cazares for his knee pain. Due to the bacterial cocktail he was injected with, Mr. Cazares suffered an immediate adverse reaction and subsequent infection that eventually necessitated several surgeries, months of therapy, and numerous hospitalizations. As a result of the injuries caused by the Defendants, both Plaintiffs sustained injuries

V.
STRICT LIABILITY

The Defendants produced, manufactured, distributed, marketed, stored, handled, processed, and sold the Contaminated Lot of Synvisc-One. At all times before the tainted syringe was used on Plaintiff, it was in the exclusive control of the Defendants, their agents, servants, employees, and/or apparent agents, and was delivered to Plaintiff without substantial change in its condition. The tainted syringe was defective and unreasonably dangerous to the ultimate user at the time it was produced through the time it was administered to Plaintiff. Unlike the sterile product it was supposed to be, the tainted syringe was defective and unreasonably dangerous because, among other things, it was contaminated by various pathogenic bacteria. The defective and unreasonably dangerous condition of the Contaminated Lot is a direct, proximate, and producing cause of Plaintiffs' injuries and losses.

VI.
MANUFACTURING DEFECT

There was a manufacturing defect in the Contaminated Lot at the time it left the possession of Defendants. The product deviated in its construction or quality from its specifications in a manner that rendered it unreasonably dangerous. The manufacturing defect rendered the medical device dangerous to an extent beyond that which would be contemplated by the ordinary user of the product, and with the ordinary knowledge common to the community as to the product's characteristics. The above manufacturing defect was a producing cause of the injuries made the basis of this suit. As more particularly set forth below, Plaintiff invokes the doctrine of res ipsa loquitur as to whether the product contained a manufacturing defect.

VII.
NEGLIGENCE

The Defendants were negligent in the design, manufacture, and marketing of Synvisc-One® Lot Number 7RSL021. The Defendants, through various agents and entities, failed to ensure that the appropriate environmental controls were adhered to and/or deviated from the appropriate manufacturing processes resulting in the microbial infestation contained in the Contaminated Lot. was a producing cause of the injuries to Plaintiffs. As a direct and proximate result of the Defendants' negligence, Plaintiffs sustained the injuries and losses described below. As more particularly set forth below, Plaintiff invokes the doctrine of res ipsa loquitur.

VIII.
BREACH OF EXPRESS WARRANTY
(TEX. UCC §2.313)

Among other affirmative representations, the Defendants expressly warranted that the contents of the syringe were "sterile and nonpyrogenic." Rather than the "sterile and nonpyrogenic" syringe, the Defendants furnished a contaminated syringe loaded with a bacterial cocktail which caused the plaintiff to suffer severe adverse reactions to the product which required surgical intervention. As a direct and proximate result of the Defendants' breach, Plaintiffs sustained the injuries and losses described below.

IX.
BREACH OF THE IMPLIED WARRANTIES OF MERCHANTABILITY
(TEX. UCC §2.314(b)) AND FITNESS FOR A PARTICULAR PURPOSE
(TEX. UCC §2.315)

The Defendants designed, constructed, manufactured, labeled, handled, stored and/or distributed the Contaminated Lot of Synvisc-One that was eventually injected into Plaintiff resulting in significant harm. The Defendants impliedly warranted that Synvisc-One was fit for its intended use as a medical device as a single-injection device for the long-term treatment of arthritis pain, which the plaintiff had (TEX. UCC §2.315). The Defendants also impliedly warranted that the Contaminated Lot was merchantable pursuant to TEX. UCC §2.314(b).

Defendants sold goods to Plaintiff that were unfit for their particular purpose. The injection, from the Contaminated Lot, was not fit for its intended purpose and Defendants breached their implied warranties by selling the Synvisc-One injection while it was contaminated with microbial pathogens and other adulterants. Thus, it was not fit for its intended purpose or use and/or was not merchantable. Plaintiff relied on Defendants' knowledge and skill in these areas to ensure that the product was merchantable and/or would perform as warranted by the Defendants. As a direct and proximate result of the Defendants' breach, Plaintiffs sustained the injuries and losses described below.

X. RES IPSA LOQUITUR

As a basis for application of res ipsa loquitur to Plaintiff's claims against the Defendants, Plaintiff adopts and realleges by reference each and every factual allegation contained in this Petition as if fully copied and set forth at length. The character of the incident made the basis of this lawsuit would not ordinarily occur in the absence of negligence; and

The product was under the exclusive management and control of the Defendants. Defendants were in control of the product at the time that the negligence (inferable from the incident made the basis of this lawsuit) occurred, so that the reasonable probabilities point to the Defendants and support a reasonable inference that Defendants were the negligent party. Further, Defendants have superior knowledge or means of information to determine the cause of the incident made the basis of this lawsuit. By reason of the above and foregoing circumstances, among others, the jury is permitted to infer the Defendants' negligence.

XI.
CIRCUMSTANTIAL EVIDENCE OF A DEFECT

The malfunction that occurred ordinarily would not occur in the absence of a defect in the product. Shaun T. Mian Corp. v. Hewlett-Packard Co., 237 S.W.3d 851, 862-863 (Tex.App.—Dallas 2007, pet. Denied). The circumstances provide a reasonable basis for concluding the defective condition did not arise subsequent to Defendant's exercise of control over the product. Shaun T. Mian Corp., 237 S.W.3d at 863. The likelihood of something other than a defect in the product is so reduced that the most probable cause of the malfunction was a defect in the product. Shaun T. Mian Corp., 237 S.W.3d at 863. Thus, the product was defective.

XII.
NOTICE OF HEALTH CARE LIABILITY CLAIM

Plaintiff sent notice of a health care liability claim, by certified mail return receipt requested and hand-delivery with receipt, with the medical authorization required by Section 74.052 of the Texas Civil Practices and Remedies Code, as follows:

- (a) Ortho El Paso P.A.,
- (b) Jason Vourazeris, MD

XIII.
DAMAGES

As a proximate and/or producing result of Defendants' conduct, Plaintiff Javier Cazares has suffered, sustained and incurred, and in reasonable medical probability will continue to suffer, sustain and incur, the following injuries and damages, among others:

- a. physical pain sustained in the past and, in reasonable probability, that will be sustained in the future;
- b. mental anguish sustained in the past and, in reasonable probability, that will be sustained in the future;

c. disfigurement sustained in the past and, in reasonable probability, that will be sustained in the future;

d. physical impairment sustained in the past and, in reasonable probability, that will be sustained in the future;

e. medical expenses sustained in the past and, in reasonable probability, that will be sustained in the future;

f. lost earnings in the past; and

g. exemplary damages.

As a proximate and/or producing result of Defendants' conduct, Plaintiff Angelina Cazares suffered, sustained and incurred, and in reasonable medical probability will continue to suffer, sustain and incur, the following injuries and damages, among others:

a. Loss of household services, past and future;

b. Loss of consortium, past and future; and

c. Exemplary damages.

Plaintiffs also seek punitive damages from Defendants under TEX. CIV. PRAC. & REM. CODE ANN. § 41.003 for their gross negligence/malice that resulted in the Plaintiffs' injuries and damages as set forth above. Plaintiff prefers to leave the precise amount of punitive damages to the sole determination of the jury, based upon the credible evidence presented at trial, without regard to sympathy, prejudice or bias. In assessing punitive damages against defendants, the jury should take into account the following considerations: 1) the nature of the defendant's wrong; 2) the character of the conduct involved; 3) the degree of culpability of the wrongdoer; 4) the situation and sensibilities of the parties concerned; 5) the extent to which such conduct offends a public sense of justice and propriety; and 6) Plaintiffs reasonable attorney's fees. Alamo National Bank v. Kraus, 616 S.W.2d 908, 910 (Tex. 1981). The jury should also be guided by previous exemplary sums, if any, paid by or on behalf of the Defendants for the same or similar unsafe practices alleged in this case. The jury should also take into account the net worth of the Defendants.

XIV.
REQUEST FOR DISCLOSURES

Pursuant to Rule 194 of the Texas Rules of Civil Procedure, Defendants are requested to disclose the information and material described in Rule 194.2 within fifty (50) days of the service of this Plaintiff's Requests for Disclosure to Defendants.

XV.
RULE 193.7 NOTICE

Pursuant to Rule 193.7 of the Texas Rules of Civil Procedure, Plaintiff hereby gives notice that all documents produced by any party to this case will be used at any pretrial proceeding or at the trial of this matter.

XVI.
JURY DEMAND

Pursuant to Texas Rule of Civil Procedure 216, Plaintiff requests a trial by jury and would show that the appropriate fee is paid contemporaneously with the filing of this Petition.

XVII.
DESIGNATED EMAIL FOR SERVICE PROCESS

13.01 Plaintiff hereby notifies all parties that the designated email for service for all matters included, but not limited to discovery, motions, notices and pleadings, is as follows:

getlit@lovettlawfirm.com

XVIII.
PRAYER

Plaintiff prays that he have judgment against Defendants, jointly and severally, for actual damages shown and proved at trial, for prejudgment and post-judgment interest, for costs of court, and for all other relief, legal and equitable, to which Plaintiff is entitled.

Respectfully submitted,
